

Employees have questions about their health. Help them get quick answers with Virtual Care.

Healthy employees are more engaged and better able to do their best work. But busy schedules and lack of access to medical services means they aren't getting the health support they need.

Virtual Care provides employees with direct access to a remote team of licensed healthcare professionals to respond to non-urgent healthcare needs. The program empowers employees with a quick and easy way to check up on their health without having to leave their home or the office. The resulting peace of mind and increased productivity can benefit employees and employers alike.
